Ohioans Clean Up; Flood Waters Recede

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio River appears to have ended its violent March assault on Ohio towns and communities, and residents were beginning giant-sized cleanup operations. Other flooding rivers in Ohio have already crested and were beginning to recede.

The Red Cross said 15,000 Ohioans in 22 counties were directly affected by the muddy, rampaging Ohio and its tributaries.

The Ohio at Cincinnati should crest at 66½ feet this morning, 14½ feet above flood stage, the Weather Bureau said. That

Ohio River Crest

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's biggest city braced behind its floodwall confidently today against the Ohio River, now a savage stream swollen by heavy rains.

Outside the wall, the big river crept around and into homes, chasing residents away to join a refugee list estimated by the Red Cross at 110,000 persons in five states.

The crest of the river was expected to hit 66½ feet at Cincinnati, Ohio about 120 miles upstream. Flood stage there is 52 feet, but by Wednesday night cleanup operations were being started in many places in the Cincinnati area.

Western Pennsylvania rivers began receding. The Ohio was expected to fall below 25-foot flood stage at Pittsburgh by tonight.

In Indiana, some 4,000 persons were forced from homes.

In Kentucky, outside the Louisville area, at least two towns were virtually isolated. Another dug out from its worst flood in history.

Seven flood-related deaths were reported in Ohio and one each in Kentucky and Indiana. Damage, not officially estimated, was expected to run into the millions of dollars. Typical of hard-hit towns was Shepherdsville, Ky., south of Louisville, where eight feet of water covered downtown.

At Louisville, National Guardsmen helped city workers and firemen install flood gates. The quick-rising river jumped through one opening, at the foot of 10th Street, before it could be plugged. The affected area is on lower ground than the main downtown section but some businesses were affected.

A crest of 45½ to 47 feet was expected Friday morning at Louisville but the wall was being readied to stand one of 48 feet. The river was only about a foot below the predicted crest early today and about 18 feet over flood stage.

The Red Cross said more than

Vote on Measure Expected Today

Congress Pay Hike Chances Boosted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Strong support from House leaders has greatly improved chances for passage of a federal pay increase bill that includes big boosts for members of Congress.

Before a final vote comes today, however, a move may be made to trim from $10,000-a-year to $7,500 the increases that would go to members of Congress and other high-paid government officials. A total of 1.7 million federal employees would benefit under the bill, with the average mailman and government secretary getting a $450-a-year raise.

The House spent Wednesday debating the issue of whether it deserved an increase after going nine years without one, and heard a resounding "yes" from Democratic leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma and assistant Democratic leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana.

It also heard some equally rousing "no's" and demands that the House stand up and be counted on a roll call vote instead of trying to pass the bill by a nonrecord voice vote.

The members, who needed no such reminders, were told repeatedly by the bill's supporters that they faced "a hard and disagreeable task" in voting to raise their own $22,500-a-year salaries.

Albert told them the duty to set federal salaries was put upon them by the Constitution and could not be evaded. Holding down congressional pay, Albert said, would depress all salaries, since they are fixed by tradition in rigid relationships.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., a chief sponsor of the bill, told his colleagues "we are important people." He said he is tired of having Congress downgrade itself and praised the bill as "the first effort in history to bring order into the federal salary system."

Atkins, who needed no such reminders, was told repeatedly by the bill's supporters that they faced "a hard and disagreeable task" in voting to raise their own $22,500-a-year salaries.

As Greek Cypriots denounced the United States and Britain in Nicosia Wednesday, those two countries announced they would contribute half the estimated $6 million needed to keep the force on Cyprus for three months.

The State Department said it would donate up to $2 million from an Agency for International Development contingency fund. This is in addition to an earlier U.S. offer to provide transportation and some supplies for the force.

The State Department noted that an obstacle to creating the force was the financial problem but added, "It is essential to move promptly to stop further needless loss of life."

Britain offered $1 million but warned it would pull its troops out of Cyprus, letting the Greek and Turkish Cypriots fight it out unless there is quick relief for British soldiers.

Amid cheers from both Labor and Conservative members, Commonwealth Secretary Duncan Sandys told the House of Commons: "There is a limit to the dangers and indignities which we have a right to ask them (British soldiers) to endure."

Sandys said Britain had given

Thant until today to report some progress in putting together the international force authorized by the Security Council to relieve the bulk of the 7,000 British troops on Cyprus. Britain has offered to keep some soldiers on Cyprus and to provide quarters for the international force at its permanent bases on the island.

West Germany, which is not a

U.N. member, will contribute about $500,000, diplomatic sources said.

Thent appealed for contributions from U.N. members last Saturday after some of the small nations asked to provide troops said they were unwilling to bear the cost.

The secretary-general asked for troops from Austria, Brazil, Canada, Finland, Ireland and Sweden. Brazil balked because of the cost but diplomats said she may reconsider.

Canada ordered the aircraft carrier Bonaventure to Halifax to be prepared to carry Canadian troops to Cyprus.

THE FIELD OF BLOOD

Realizing at last the enormity of his crime, Judas returned to the temple with the 30 pieces of silver and tried to give them back to the chief priests.

"I have sinned and betrayed innocent blood," he confessed.

When the chief priests refused to hear him out, he flung the pieces of silver into the temple, then, in despair, went out and hanged himself.

The chief priests were at a loss what to do with the money, arguing among themselves that "it is not lawful to put them into the treasury, seeing that it is the price of blood." Finally they used it to buy the potter's field as a burial place for criminals and strangers. To this day, the field is still called "Haceldama," which means "the field of blood."

Tortured by Father, Aunt

Warren Girl Recovers After Months of Mistreatment

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — A year ago today a motorist picked up a skinny girl limping along a Warren Township road and took her to a hospital where parts of her frostbitten toes were amputated.

The girl, Frances Jean Carr, then 18, told a strange story of five months of mistreatment by her father and her aunt.

There were rope marks on her wrists and waist, and she charged she had been locked in an unheated barn, in the basement and sometimes in a metal trunk measuring 34 x 21 x 20 inches. That was punishment for not doing housework, she said.

Frances Jean weighed an emaciated 78 pounds then, compared with the 139 she weighs today. When she was locked up, she said, all she got to eat was "coffee bread"—bread mixed with coffee—twice a day.

Along with gaining 61 pounds, the girl has regained a normal teen-age life during the last year. She has been living with her sister, Mrs. Donna Ainsley, 22, in nearby Cortland and will be graduated from Lakeview High School there in May.

"I feel pretty good now," said Frances Jean. "I've got back all my strength."

"I have a girl friend, and we go bowling, or to a dance or a show."

She said she has a steady boy friend she met at a dance last September when he was on leave from the Air Force.

Lynn Woffter, Lakeview High principal, called Frances a "good and reliable student" and a "pleasant individual." He said she's "the middle third of 102 students in her class scholastically."

Mrs. Ainsley said her sister showed no ill effects from her ordeal "except sometimes when it gets cold, her feet hurt a little."

"Sometimes we'll sit down and talk about it," Mrs. Ainsley added. "She hasn't seen her aunt or father since the trial. We don't want anything to do with them."

The father, Francis Carr, 45, and the aunt, Mrs. Jeannette Carr, 40, were convicted of torturing the girl. They were sentenced to six months in jail and fined $200.

Frances Jean's mother died 10 years ago.

After high school graduation

Frances Jean would like to go into nurse's training school or to beauty school, her sister said, or she may work for a while. "She doesn't know exactly because she's been mixed up for so long."

Cleveland Fire Fatal to Man, Four Children

CLEVELAND (AP) — Five members of a family perished early today in a fire that swept their East Side home.

The victims were identified as James Hajas, 28, and his four children—Terry, 8, James Jr., 6, Vicki, 5, and Sharon, 3.

Hajas' wife, Judy, 25, was admitted to St. Alexis Hospital with head cuts and suffering from shock. She was reported in good condition.

The cause of the fire and an estimate of the damage to the 2½ story frame building were not available immediately.

Firemen reported that Mrs. Hajas jumped from the second floor.

The family occupied a four-room apartment above a restaurant and a barber shop at 3529 E. 93rd St.

Forty firemen with 12 pieces of equipment fought the blaze for 30 minutes before bringing it under control. The fire was across the street from the 7th Battalion's Engine Co. No. 35 and that unit was the first to respond to the alarm.

On Feb. 16 a mother and her five children were killed in a fire that destroyed a two-family home on the East Side. The victims occupied the upstairs apartment. The father escaped by jumping out an upstairs window.

Twelve persons, including nine children, fled to safety from the first-floor apartment.

Blood On the Snow

We are faced in the outcome of the New Hampshire primary with a situation similar to that of a foreigner watching baseball.

The action must be explained by the experts.

Well, the experts have been explaining. We have listened.

They have told us Ambassador Lodge, who wasn't running but had a lot of money going for him, scored a smashing triumph. This is puzzling because we aren't taking Ambassador Lodge seriously as a potential Republican presidential candidate and we don't think Republican voters in New Hampshire were taking him seriously, either.

The experts have told us Sen. Goldwater didn't prove his extremely conservative views are as popular as he and his backers thought they would be if they were matched with the views of liberal Republicans like Gov. Rockefeller.

THE senator and his friends, who also are experts, have told us they left no blood on the New Hampshire snow; that all they left there was a set of tracks to mark the beginning of a journey that won't end short of San Francisco next July, at the 1964 Republican convention.

As to Gov. Rockefeller, he, too, insists he left no blood on the New Hampshire snow, but from here it looks as if he just may have left all his presidential hopes up there in the Granite State.

We are inclined to bracket him at this point with Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, whose presidential parachute didn't open, and Harold Stassen, who has turned into a hardy perennial that comes up by force of habit but never blooms.

ALL THINGS considered, including what happened to that steady GOP wheel-horse, Richard M. Nixon, who was given a steady vote of steady party confidence, the New Hampshire primary proved that those who get tangled up in it are brave souls.

They can't win much if they win. What has Ambassador Lodge won?

But if they don't win, they can risk the loss of their political lives.

It has been estimated that primary hoopla in New Hampshire this year—the intensive TV coverage, chiefly—brought $200,000 into a state that needs the cash. The only real winners were motel operators, restaurant proprietors and natives who manned telephones to relay results.

The real losers are like the fellow who didn't know his head had been cut off in one pass with a razor until he shook it in disbelief. It takes a little while to realize what happened.

Fine Young People

The Columbiana-Mahoning county district has been fortunate for many years to have benefited from an outstanding 4-H club program for the boys and girls in our agricultural areas. The training afforded these young people has helped to establish them as right-thinking teenagers, a marked, pleasing contrast to some young people whose antics often bring them face to face with the law to be branded as juvenile delinquents.

Announcement yesterday of the selection of four Salem 4-H members is not only a compliment to them but to the club program as a whole. We join other admirers in congratulating Sydney Johnson, Carol Karnofel, Sandy Hawkins and Robert Hippoly for being the fine young people they are.

A safety director with his hands tied is a figurehead with no real authority.

Hands Tied?

Soon after Edward Mallory accepted the mayor's appointment as Salem city safety director Dec. 15 he drafted a set of rules and regulations designed to improve the operation of the police and fire departments.

Drawing upon his many years of experience on the Ohio Highway Patrol, the new director presented what appeared to be a sensible, efficient proposition. The regulations, however, have been in the hands of City Council's rules committee and the city solicitor for study and revision, if necessary. But this was 12 weeks ago.

A safety director with his hands tied is a figurehead with no real authority.

The Undisciplined

By Truman Twill

No one would even try to train even a dog until the dog knew who was master.

Yet, humans get so fouled up in politics and slobology they disregard the obvious.

WHEN THIS country was raw, teachers were allowed to establish the master-pupil relationship with their own resources. The "schoolmaster" was given the right to beat up bullies who challenged his authority.

Sometimes he had to go further and beat up their big brothers and their crazy coots of fathers, too. But our ancestors had the sense to let a teacher protect himself.

When women teachers came along, they were protected, too. Any punk kid who laid a hand on a schoolmarm had his head knocked askew by another pupil or one of the men of the community.

That was before officeholders hit on the million - vote idea of sewing up big-city votes with massed minorities living under a political protectorate that gave their kids a license to run amuck in classrooms.

NEW YORK CITY is reaping a whirlwind. It shouldn't be surprised.

It has been sowing the seeds long enough. Before the harvest is over it may have to admit what is obvious—that it has turned teaching from a dignified profession into a way to live dangerously in every school district terrorized by wild children.

IN A TIME and a place where society does not know what to do with savagery, these children are thickly protected in their irresponsible state by rules and regulations that prevent teachers from teaching them the first lessons of education-discipline.

Until the bodies and mouths of these wild children have been brought under control, no one can teach them anything. Anyone who tries is in physical danger.

Primary Questions

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Americans who boast about their representative system of government must inevitably be at a loss to defend the so-called presidential preference primary system in the United States.

What conclusions can be drawn, for instance, from the New Hampshire primary? Do the results mean that the Republican party has been revealed as an organization the majority of whose members adhere to any particular set of principles? Does any candidate for the nomination, whether he made speeches or merely allowed his name to be written in on the ballot, emerge with a preference expressed by a majority of the votes cast?

Also, why doesn't the state of New Hampshire require a runoff primary to determine the winner as between the two persons who in the first contest received the highest number of votes but not a majority? These questions illustrate the confusing and inconclusive nature of the primary election held in New Hampshire this week. It can hardly be said that the election reflects the viewpoint of the Republican party as such, and it would be difficult to write party platform based on the speeches made by the various candidates striving for the presidential nomination on the Republican ticket.

THE DEVICE of a runoff for local offices is widely used today in those states where one party dominates and where the tendency is for several candidates to enter the primary race, since winning the party nomination generally is tantamount to election. There is no objection, of course, to a preliminary skirmish, as it gives everybody a fair chance. But once the vote has been split up, it's logical for another election to be held to determine the voter preference as between the two who polled the largest number of votes without either getting a majority.

The theory that members of each party shall vote in a primary to choose their respective nominees for the presidency is sound, but there are many defects in state laws about determining who is eligible to vote in a party primary. It's possible in some states, for instance, for a citizen who is not a Republican to exercise as much power in a primary election as a citizen who has identified himself with and voted for the Republican party themselves, in order that platforms may be framed by those responsible to the people for carrying them into effect.'

THE PRESENT-DAY national conventions are somewhat more representative than the ones of a few decades ago—which were almost always controlled by party bosses—but there would be an improvement if, in making up the delegations, more responsibility were placed on members of each party in Congress or those who aspire to seats in either house. For they themselves would have to appear on the ballot in the same or future elections.

They are familiar with national issues, and would be more likely to select someone who would be expected to win or at least be better qualified to hold the office of president than the candidate nominated by so many puppet delegates who customarily go to the national party conventions.

Lindsay-Baun Vows Are Heard Friday

St. John's Lutheran Church at Petersburg was the scene of the wedding of Miss Susan Elaine Lindsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Lindsay Jr. of Columbiania, and Lonnie David Baun, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Baun of Petersburg, who were married Friday at 7:30 p.m. by the Rev. Donald E. Williamson.

The double ring ceremony was performed before an altar enhanced by two vases of white snapdragons, pompons and pink carnations against a background of palms and fernery. Twin seven-branched candelabra lighted the chancel.

Escorted by her father down an aisle whose pew ends were marked by white and pink bows, the bride was given in marriage by her parents.

She wore a full length dress of white satin brocade with tiny beads embroidering the fitted bodice which boasted a shallow scooped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her shoulder-length veil of illusion was held by a filigree crown of silk braid trimmed with pearls and crystals, and carried a crescent shaped bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis. In her shoe she placed a six-pence, traditional symbol of good luck.

Miss Carol Lindsay served her sister as maid of honor and wore a pink and white street length dress of white dacron polyester over pink polished cotton. Her headpiece was of matching material roses and her bouquet was a colonial arrangement of white carnations and pink roses.

Another sister of the bride, Rebecca, and a cousin of the bride, Diane Lindsay, were bridesmaids. They were attired in street length dresses of pink and white dacron polyester over pink polished cotton, with headpieces of matching self material roses and carried colonial bouquets of pink and white carnations and roses.

Flower girl was Anne Young in a long dress of white dacron over pink cotton and carrying a basket of pink sweetheart roses and white daisies.

George Baun, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Dale Schultz, Dave Wassum, Geoffrey Lindsay and Dale Young. Gary Baun, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Mrs. Lindsay wore a blue print dress for her daughter's wedding and Mrs. Baun a pale blue-gray brocade dress. Both had pink and white corsages of roses and carnations.

Reception Follows

Pink and white carnations decorated the three-tier wedding cake centering the bride's table at the reception in the church social room. Hostesses were Mrs. Jack Lindsay, Miss Dorothy Baun and Mrs. Dale Young. Mrs. Dale Schultz, sister of the bridegroom, was in charge of the guest book.

A graduate of Columbian High School and Youngstown School of Cosmetology, the bride is employed by the National Rubber Manufacturing Co. at Columbiania.

Mr. Baun is a graduate of Springfield High School and employed by the Insl Chemical Company at East Palestine.

A green and beige plaid suit was worn by the new Mrs. Baun for her honeymoon to an undisclosed destination. Upon their return they will live at 405 W. Park Ave., Columbiania.

Vases of white snapdragons and pompons decorated the altar which was lighted by cathedral candles.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length white satin sheath dress with satin overskirt and carried gardenias and white roses in a cascade arrangement. Her shoulder length veil was caught to a headpiece of satin petals trimmed with pearls.

Mrs. James Berg was matron of honor in a jacketed sheath dress of gold satin. Her flowers were Orange Delight roses in cascade bouquet.

Three sisters of the bride, Karen, Charlotte and Sandra Berg, were bridesmaids. They wore outfits similar to that of Mrs. Berg but in willow green.

The mother of the bride and bridesmaids made dresses of the bride and attendants.

Best man for Mr. Dougherty was James Berg and ushering were Cecil Emelo and Robert Labbe.

A pink suit was worn by the mother of the bride and Mrs. Dougherty, mother of the bridegroom, a blue dress. Both complemented their ensembles with corsages of gardenias.

Peoples Drug In Midst Of Grand Opening Event

A modern, fully equipped prescription department is the focal point of the new Peoples Drug store, which is holding its grand opening today at its new location at 444 E. State St.

Peoples Drug has been operated in Salem since 1931 when the first store was at the corner of E. State St. and Lundy Ave. The store moved to 340 E. State St. in 1947 and has been located there until moving to its present location.

Glenn A. Arnold a registered pharmacist, who has been with the firm for 33 years, continues as manager. Two other registered pharmacists, John J. Cain and William E. Evankovich, are assistant managers.

Thirty persons are employed at the new store.

Besides the enlarged prescription center, the new store has a bigger cosmetic center. An enlarged lunch counter has been installed for the convenience of the store's customers.

The new store has a total of 7,500 square feet of floor space, compared to 1,650 available at its previous location.

Store hours are 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. during weekdays and 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sundays.

Peoples was founded in 1905 in Washington, D.C. At that time there were only two stores. Now, however, 220 stores blanket most of the eastern United States.

Peoples has outlets in Ohio, West Virginia, Virginia, District of Columbia, Tennessee, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

In another accident, Mrs. Louise C. Bunn, 59, of 1558 Cleveland St. was cited by police for not yielding the right of way when leaving the Kelly service station. She collided with a vehicle driven by Ralph G. Gatchel, 35, of 1193 Maple St. as he was going south on Lincoln.

Top Court Affirms County Decision

The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday affirmed 6-0 a Columbian County common pleas court decision holding that Richard N. Paterson of New Waterford could collect damages in a traffic accident suit.

Paterson sought the damages from Nationwide Mutual Insurance Co. for the death of his infant child born prematurely to his wife, Patricia, following a traffic accident July 12, 1962, in East Liverpool.

The appellate court had reversed the trial court.

Junior High Assembly

Pupils at Salem Junior High School heard a lecture Monday given by Dr. Rowland M. Myers entitled "The Romance of Words."

In his talk, Dr. Myers, who received his Ph. D. degree at Johns Hopkins University, conveyed the thought that words are like coins in that, the more they are used, the faster they wear down and change their form and meaning.

He also brought out the humorous aspect of how words and their use can be fun.

Report Issued by Recorder's Office

The Columbian County recorder's office recorded 507 instruments, filed 401 instruments and collected $2,214 in fees during February, according to the monthly report of Recorder Richard Brian.

The White House has insisted that the schism is a creation of newspaper columnists. A close Johnson associate of long standing said he had "never even heard of this feud, except in the newspapers. They're putting 2 and 2 together and getting 20. I think the Republicans are promoting it to embarrass us."

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger scoffed at reports the two men aren't on speaking terms.

O. Henry Tradition Lives on As Convicts Break Into Print

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — There is ample proof that the tradition of William Sidney Porter—who began his writing career as O. Henry behind the old stone walls of Ohio Penitentiary—still lives on.

Many inmates of the ancient downtown Columbus prison have tried to emulate the famous author—and many have had success.

Latest to further the tradition is John Joseph Miller, due for parole from the prison April 9. Under the pen name of Jay Miller, his first novel, "A New Doctor at Tower General," is to be published this summer.

Miller is serving a 10-25 year term for armed robbery. He was convicted of taking part in a $3,108 Cleveland office holdup on May 18, 1957. He began writing in prison, and, after many rejections, began selling short stories. While working on his novel, he had duties in the prison hospital.

Not to be outdone by Miller, three other penitentiary inmates, all serving time for armed robbery, by an odd coincidence, broke into the literary news this week.

Other activities included release of 148 real estate mortgages with a consideration of $926,980, filing 368 finance statements and security agreements, and termination of 345 chattel mortgages, financing statements and security agreements.

The Soviets rebuffed efforts of U.S. diplomats to learn the fate of the three fliers and made no immediate reply to a U.S. request that the crewmen and the wreckage of the plane be returned.

U.S. officials denied the spy charge and insisted the plane was on a routine training flight with orders to stay away from the Iron Curtain frontier. The United States couched an apology with the protest.

The Soviet note claimed that "special reconnaissance equipment for aerial photography and radiotelecommunication reconnaissance" was found in the wreckage of the twin-engine, high-altitude bomber.

AROUND THE MOON — This is how an artist sees the Lunar Orbiter spacecraft in orbit about 28 miles from the moon's surface. The Orbiter has blossomed from a compact package, opening its petals of solar cell panels and stalks carrying antennas. It is hoped that the first of five of these vehicles to be built will be ready for missions in 1966. It would take photos of the moon, which would be radioed back to earth. Objects three-feet square would be recorded in the film. Overlapping of pictures would provide full coverage of selected areas and a three-dimensional effect to aid moon studies.

The sheriff's office said many families who abandoned homes in low-lying areas would begin returning today to begin the big clean-up job.

Part of Athens was without electricity Wednesday night after a break in a main power line near the Roy McBee plant No. 2. Workmen were unable to repair the line pending the runoff of floodwater.

Four dormitories remained unoccupied on the West Green campus of Ohio University, but it was believed the 1,400 students evacuated from them would return today.

At Logan in Hocking County, Sheriff Paul Hartman reported the Hocking River on the decline at the rate of six inches an hour.

The same was true at Circleville, Chillicothe and Piketon on the Scioto River. Ross County sheriff's deputies reported the water holding at 24.6 feet at midnight but said they expected it to start receding soon. Chillicothe and Circleville both have a flood stage of 16 feet.

The Scioto County sheriff's office at Portsmouth said that community's only outlet was U.S. 52 east to Huntington, W. Va., but added it was partially water-covered in some places.

Main Road Closed

No main roads were open to Athens, but the sheriff's office there said, "You can get out if you know how." He explained it was possible over back roads.

At Uhrichsville, water from swollen Laurel Creek flooded the Twin City pumping station. Eight schools and all water-using industries had to close. Joseph Martin of the Twin City Water Board estimated it would take three to five days to make repairs but said no immediate water shortage is anticipated. He explained that the reservoir contains some 3 million gallons.

The Columbus Weather Bureau said that Southern Ohio would probably get a few showers and thundershowers today. But forecasters said they would be light and would cause no worsening of the flood situation.

12,000 victims were housed in Red Cross shelters Wednesday night.

The Red Cross planned to set up a disaster headquarters at Cincinnati to aid victims in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Govs. Edward T. Breathitt of Kentucky and Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana asked that President Johnson declare many counties—30 in Kentucky and 20 in Indiana—disaster areas. This would make available various types of federal aid.

McClellan Opens Rights Bill Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., warned his colleagues of "confusion, instability and chaos" if they refuse to send the civil rights bill to the Senate Judiciary Committee.

The result of such a refusal, he said today in a Senate speech, would be to "greatly endanger, if not completely destroy, the efficiency and integrity of our legislative processes."

McClellan was the opening Southern speaker in the fourth day of debate on the House-passed civil rights bill.

The Senate so far is considering only the motion to take up the bill. The Dixie forces are believed willing to permit it to come to a vote by the middle of next week.

Once it is adopted, there will be a move to try to shunt the bill to the committee.

Democratic leaders have pledged to defeat this move if possible. They contend that the committee, headed by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., has demonstrated in this Congress as in previous ones that it has no intention of acting on any civil rights legislation.

Allen J. Ellender, D-La., and Speppard L. Holland, D-Fla., spoke on civil rights Wednesday. Several other senators talked on other subjects.

Two Forfeit Bonds In Lisbon Court

LISBON — James Thomas Hartill, 63, of Chester, W. Va., forfeited a $15 bond Wednesday night in Mayor Dean Stockman's court when he failed to appear for a hearing after being cited for speeding early Wednesday morning.

Ernest U. Whipple, 79, Salem RD 3, forfeited a $25 bond, when he failed to appear on charges of reckless operation after his car struck a tree on Prospect St. last Monday. Both were cited by village police.

Discovery of New Radiation Belt Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Discovery of a region of high-energy radiation far outside the usual reaches of the dangerous Van Allen belts around the earth was reported today by the space agency.

The discovery was made by the high-soaring interplanetary monitoring platform satellite—IMP—which was launched Nov. 26 to study potentially deadly periodic flares which pose a threat to manned voyages to the moon.

The amount of the newly noted radiation, in itself, does not appear to hold any serious hazard to future space travelers, it was reported at a symposium staged by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to give results of IMP's explorations.

But it is possible that the moon may be peppered with the high-energy radiation particles during a portion of each monthly lunar orbit, said Dr. Kinsey A. Anderson of the University of California at Berkeley.

Book Contract Let By Fair Board

Contracts for 750 premium books and 5,000 free program books were let Wednesday night by the Columbian Agriculture Society at its meeting in the county extension office in Lisbon.

Ben Weingart, president, presided.

The Bennett Printing Company was the low bidder at $7.60 per page for premium book and $13.30 per page for program. Wellsville Press, the only other bidder, bid $10 for premium and $13.60 for program.

Courtney Pennell, Lisbon representative of the Columbia Gas Co., requested and received an easement to lay a 3-inch line along the north boundary of the fairgrounds to connect the main line on Columbian Road to the N. Market St. resident area.

Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture, Robert Lewis, assistant county 4-H extension agent and the Rev. Frank Hale, Lisbon RD 1, chairman of the county 4-H committee, discussed with the fair board the junior fair program for the fair Aug. 26-30.

If the Chamber votes to change its policy, then, and then only, can the president or the Chamber itself pursue a straight course.

"We all agreed that the progress of the City of Salem is of the first and prime importance, whether Route 62 stays where it is or goes south or north."

List Recommended Jobs

Caplan pointed out that the officers and directors of the Chamber had endorsed the highway committee's own recommendation of priority projects which did not put Route 62 first. He quoted the committee report of Dec. 13, 1963, as reporting that "after careful deliberation it has arrived at these (highway) needs in the following priority:

(1) The relocation of S.R. 9 from a point at the intersection of Pidgeon Rd. and present S.R. 9 to U.S. 62 at the intersection of W. State St. and Pine Ave.

(2) Construction of the S.R. 14 and U.S. 62 bypass of Salem from an interchange on proposed S.R. 11 about three-quarters of a mile north of the present S.R. 14A in a westerly direction to pass through Perry Township just north of the city limits of Salem, and to connect with the present 14A just beyond the present railroad underpass northwest of Salem with a connector to the present U.S. 62 just west of the city. This connector route will eventually become part of the S.R. 45 bypass around the city.

(3) Completion of a 4-lane highway on the existing U.S. 62 west of Salem to Alliance.

(4) Construction of S.R. 11 from U.S. 224 to S.R. 517.

(5) Completion of the S.R. 45 bypass of Salem from U.S. 62 west of Salem to a point where the present limited access highway ends on S.R. 45 south of Salem near Zeigler's Market.

Also charged is Abe Kottler, 50, of Cleveland Heights, described as the go-between for one of the women's friends with the abortion ring. Kottler is free on $5,000 bond.

Burgess said the abortions cost $500 each.

said Congress could not in good conscience vote itself a big increase just after cutting taxes and urging frugality in government spending.

Arden Crumbaker of Salem discussed the American heritage program and Baird Stewart of East Palestine, activity chairman, discussed the camp corporate to be held sometime in May.

But a Democrat, Rep. Wayne L. Hays of Ohio, said he planned to offer an amendment that will permit members of Congress who oppose the congressional pay boost to refuse to accept it. "Or, if they don't think they are worth it, they can waive the whole salary," he added.

McNamara to Ask U.S. Continue Aid To S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara reportedly will tell President Johnson that massive U.S. aid to South Viet Nam must be continued and perhaps increased if the war against Communist guerrillas is to be won.

McNamara heads home tonight after a five-day fact finding mission on the state of the war since seizure of power by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh.

U.S. sources said McNamara also would express confidence in the new government. Since Khanh's bloodless coup Jan. 30, Viet Cong guerrillas have sharply stepped up their campaign with considerable success.

McNamara's view that the Red insurgency can be stamped out was reflected in his remarks to a rally of 30,000 persons Wednesday at Hue, 40 miles from the border of Communist North Viet Nam.

"We will supply now and in the future whatever economic aid, military training and military equipment you need to defeat your enemy, now and forever," McNamara said.

It was the defense secretary's strongest public commitment during his visit, and his words were loudly cheered.

Khanh and Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge accompanied McNamara to Hue.

McNamara was guest of honor at a state banquet in the presidential palace in Saigon Wednesday night, but Lodge was a center of much of the talk and banter because of his victory in Tuesday's New Hampshire Republican presidential primary.

Such Chamber approval has not yet been asked for, nor was it sought. The Dec. 13, 1963, policy is still in effect.

If the Chamber votes to change its policy, then, and then only, can the president or the Chamber itself pursue a straight course.

Salem Basketball Team Trailed In Most Statistics

Washington, Begalla Were Leading Scorers

In a year in which the Salem basketball team lost 16 of 19 games, the "rebuilding" Quakers distinguished themselves with their fighting courage and tremendous school spirit.

Statistics show Salem fell behind in most departments this year.

However, the future looks bright since most of the team will return.

Two seniors led Salem in scoring during the campaign. Wayne "Bink" Washington paced the Quakers with 303 points, an average of 15.9 per game.

All-Ohio football player George Begalla was the most consistent shooter from the field. He tried 243 shots and canned 97 for 39.9 per cent.

THOSE TWO athletes are the only players on the squad that will graduate in June.

Washington and Begalla tied for most quarters played. Both appeared in 75 periods of action.

Salem began the season without any lettermen, and only the two seniors had seen limited varsity action during the 1962-63 campaign.

Sophomore Jim Lantz gave the Red and Black a big lift as he began starting the third game of the season and immediately scored in double figures.

A back injury slowed him down during the late stages of the schedule, but the 5-10 star will be heard from plenty in the next two years. He finished the season with 7.7 average points a game.

Rick Gregg, only a 5-9 junior, was deadly with an assortment of shots from all over the floor. He ended up for the third highest average, 12.1 points per tilt.

AT THE FOUL line, Salem showed it had a better eye than its opponents. The Red and Black cashed in on 324 of 488 free throws for 66.3 per cent, compared to 285 of 447, or 54.7.

Beaver Boosters Map Future Plans

Several future events were announced when the Beaver Local Booster Club met Tuesday. They included an all sports banquet for junior high athletes April 7 at Beaver Local Public School with Mrs. Frank Copestick, Jr. and Mrs. George Gaydos, chairmen, and a spring sports banquet May 12 at Beaver Local High School.

Both banquets will be covered with dinner and the Booster Club furnishing meat, rolls and beverage. The May 12 banquet is also regular meeting night for the Booster Club when a short business meeting will be held.

Also discussed were a coin show June 7 at Beaver Local Public School with the club in charge of refreshments, and a horse show July 26 at the public school grounds.

A letter was read from Charles A. Pike, Columbiana County Republican chairman, who expressed gratitude to the club and to the students who helped in serving the Lincoln Day dinner in February.

A policy committee was named to rewrite the bylaws for the club with James McLaughlin, vice president, to serve as chairman. Committee members are Gail Williams, Donald Elliott, Roy Cashdollar, George Dunn and Mrs. Leo Jenkins.

Steve Barborak, vice chairman of the forest and parks council for Columbiana County, spoke about the Gaston Mill and Beaver Creek State Park restoration program.

Refreshments were served to the 20 persons in attendance by Mr. and Mrs. George Dunn.

Next meeting will be March 24 when Robert P. Kelm of Lis-

Brown Top Rusher In Pro Football

NEW YORK (AP) — After yielding the honors to Jim Taylor for one season, Cleveland's Jimmy Brown got back into stride as the National Football League's most rugged runner in the rebounding department.

The opposition cleared the boards of 970 rebounds, while the Quakers controlled the boards for only 561.

After finishing fifth in the Ohio Big 8 Conference in 1963, Salem slipped into a three-way tie with Alliance and Niles in the loop standings this year. All three units finished with 1-6 records.

SINCE THE SEASON ended with the 85-52 loss to Woodrow Wilson in the opening game of the sectional tournament, Coach John Cabas and candidates for next season's team have been drilling twice a day.

The Quakers are allowed to hold drills until the finals of the state tournament are completed March 28.

Cabas' 14-year record at Salem is 207-82. During that span, he has coached only one other losing season. In 1952-53, his third year as mentor, the Quakers ended with a 4-15 mark.

Sonny Liston Troubles Are Piling High

DENVER (AP)—Troubles are piling high for Sonny Liston, who lost his heavyweight boxing title to Cassius Clay last month.

Municipal court officials said he will be tried between March 17 and April 10 on charges of speeding, reckless and careless driving, carrying a concealed weapon and driving without a valid operator's license. He was arrested Tuesday and released on $300 bond.

Liston's former manager, George Katz of Philadelphia, filed suit in New York City Wednesday asking $1.3 million from Liston for breach of contract.

In another action, federal marshals served Liston with papers Wednesday in a suit for $11,000 filed in Chicago by Ben Bentley, also known as Ben Goldberg, who said he was hired as publicity agent by Liston and Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc.

Jack Nilon, Liston's present advisor, and his brothers, Robert A. and James F. Nilon, and Inter-Continental also were named as defendants in Katz' suit. He charged that the Nilon brothers induced Liston to displace Katz as manager and replace him with Jack Nilon.

To accomplish that, Katz said, Inter-Continental was formed with Liston holding 47% of the stock and Robert and James Nilon the balance.

Bentley said he was hired by Inter-Continental in December 1962 at a salary of $330 a week. He asked $16,001 in back salary and $100,000 which he said he lost because the firm did not grant him three Chicago outlets for closed-circuit television of the Liston-Clay fight.

The ex-champ was arrested Tuesday night by traffic officer James Snider.

The field also included the winners of four of this year's eight PGA tournaments and six of the 10 current leading money winners.

It included the last four St. Petersburg Open winners—George Bayer, Bob Gooley, Bobby Nichols and Raymond Floyd.

In Wednesday's pro-am warm-up, Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., Bob Duden of Portland, Ore., and amateur Paul Tarnow of Tampa shot six-under-par 66s.

E.J. (Dutch) Harrison came down the back nine with a 29 for a five-under-par 67. Mason Rudolph, No. 3 on the money list and winner of the New Orleans open two weeks ago, also had a 67.

The second game will be served to the 20 persons in attendance by Mr. and Mrs. George Dunn.

Rookie Dicken Drives In All Tribe's Runs In 12-4 Defeat

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Paul Dicken, 200-pound rookie outfielder, stands a good chance of sticking with the Cleveland Indians this season if he can continue his batting feats.

The 20-year-old right-handed Dicken's performance Wednesday was one of the few things Manager Birdie Tebbets had to cheer about. The Boston Red Sox battered the Tribe, 12-4, and Dicken drove in all of Cleveland's runs with a double and a single.

Dicken, a $40,000 6-foot-5 bonus baby, slashed a 405-foot double to the left field fence in the fifth, scoring Al Smith and Al Luplow. But Dicken was out trying to stretch the drive into a triple.

Then in the ninth Dicken singled home Bob Chance, who had singled, and pinch-hitter Fred Whitfield, who had doubled.

The game was Dicken's first starting assignment of the Cactus League season, although he appeared as a pinch hitter against Los Angeles Tuesday.

Dicken is one of three first-year men the Indians protected by putting them on their big league roster. Two of them will have to be included among the final 25 players the Tribe carries this season. The others are right-handed pitcher Tom Kelley and second baseman Vern Fuller, both 20.

After being signed for a bonus

last June, Dicken went to Dubuque, where he batted .322 and whacked 13 home runs in 57 games. He finished out the 1963 season with Charleston but a wrist injury kept him sidelined most of the time.

Veteran right-handed Jim

(Mudcat) Grant started for the Indians Wednesday and was the only Tribe hurler who escaped unscathed. He allowed no runs and only three hits in the three innings he worked. Rookie Sonny

Little Ordeal

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — One of life's little ordeals today is to be a confirmed cigar smoker. He is one of the misunderstood heroes of our times, often condemned, seldom appreciated, unreasonably denounced.

Just when the campaign of vilification against the cigar smoker began it is hard now to determine, but its effectiveness has been coincidental with the increase of cigarette smoking by women.

The cigar has been a symbol of masculinity in America.

The Indians taught the Spanish explorers the pleasures of a good cigar, and cigar making became one of the earliest industries in this hemisphere. Stogies—the brand smoked by the drivers of Pennsylvania's Conestoga wagons—also helped settle the great American West.

Cigars have been the favorite smoke of warriors such as Gen. U. S. Grant and Gen. George S. Patton; business titans such as J. P. Morgan; statesmen such as Winston Churchill. The late John F. Kennedy also enjoyed the bouquet of a good cigar.

Who, then, are the foes of the cigar and who subjects its smokers to such opprobrium and disdain?

They are women, television and the movies. Too often in television and film programs the cigar smoker is portrayed as a lowlife lout, a boor, an underworld tycoon, or a fat political grifter. The idea seems to be that if you want a character to look like a villain you make him overweight, balding and stick a half-chewed cigar in his mouth.

Statistics say that cigarette smokers commit more crimes than cigar smokers.

The enmity of many women toward cigars probably is based on several factors.

"They stink up the draperies," some wives complain.

The real feminine objections against cigar smoking are two-fold:

1. The average woman dislikes cigars because she doesn't know how to handle them gracefully.

2. The average woman is jealous of cigars because they give a man more satisfaction and less trouble than women do.

After all, a man doesn't have to listen to a cigar, remember it on its birthday, be nice to its relatives, or buy it a fur coat. All he does is light it, smoke it, enjoy it—and throw it away.

How can you beat a deal like that?

Many New Faces Of The United States

Montevideo, Uruguay

Warsaw, Poland

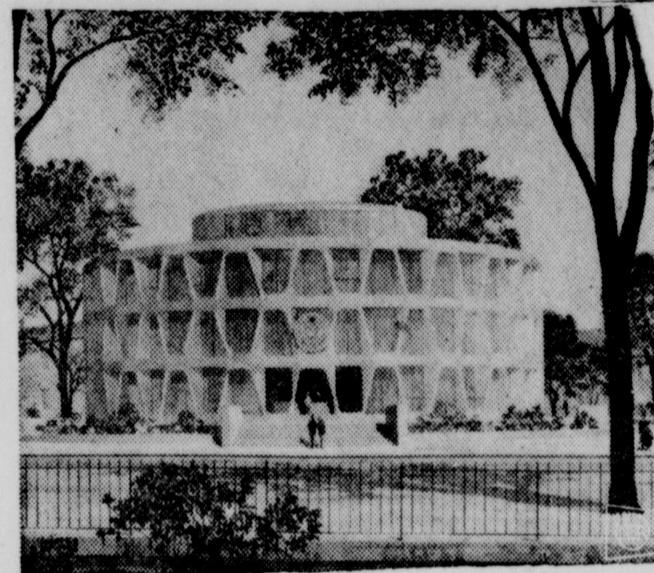

Mexico City, Mexico

Throughout the world, there are hundreds of little bits of the United States; they are our embassies.

The average person in another country will never really know the United States except through the conception he gets from, in part, the U.S. embassy in his country. It is, therefore, important that the United States put its best face forward.

The newest faces of the U.S. are the embassies in Warsaw, which has just been completed; in Dublin and Mexico City, which are nearing completion; in Montevideo, which is the most recent; and in The Hague and Baghdad (not shown), which were completed last year. These new embassies are modern in concept and design, from the long, sweeping lines of the one in Montevideo, to the round, all-glass one in Dublin.

speed, many passengers may become reluctant to spend almost as much time in surface travel at the end of a 1,500-mile plane trip as they spend in the air.

For example, without air taxi, a businessman traveling from Los Angeles to Fredericksburg, Va., could jet to Washington's Dulles Airport in less than four hours, but would then have to spend an additional two and a half hours getting to Fredericksburg via limousine and bus. By air taxi, he can fly from Dulles to Fredericksburg in 20 minutes, at a cost of as little as $6.30.

A MAJOR STEP in the air taxi breakthrough is creation of the National Air Taxi Service Guide, just issued as part of the Official Airline Guide. It lists the cities served by members of the National Air Taxi Conference (NATC), exact fares for single and twin-engine aircraft, the number of passengers who can be carried and estimated flying time.

The guide has been distributed to 23 major airlines which recognize NATC. These airlines will make air taxi reservations for passengers.

Several air taxi services are branching out into helicopter flights. Among the more successful are Los Angeles Airways, Chicago Helicopter Air-

'64 CHEVROLET—THE GREAT HIGHWAY PERFORMER

Chevrolet Impala Convertible

Nothing feels steep in a Chevrolet Impala (including the price!)

A hill is just something to admire the view from when you're driving a '64 Chevrolet. With engines up to a 425-hp V8*, getting from one side to the other wouldn't be much easier if somebody had put a tunnel there.

And if Chevrolet can go over a whole mountain so you hardly feel it, you can imagine how it goes over plain old bumps. Jet-smooth, of course. We put a big coil spring at all four wheels (not to mention 700 or so sound and shock absorbers throughout the body and chassis) to soak them up as fast as they come.

As you'd expect, Chevrolet turns in its usual fine performance with everything inside that big beautiful Body by Fisher, too. All kinds of stretch-out room and wide thick-cushioned seats that let you get in a full day's driving without fatigue. Yards of deep-twist carpeting and elegant fabric and vinyl upholstery that make you feel good just being there.

With all its looks and luxury, you can see how anyone might get the idea that this great highway performer is a high-priced car. Unless, of course, they happened to look first at its reasonable Chevrolet price.

And your Chevrolet dealer will be happy to show you that, wherever you drive, the price is probably what you'll feel least of all.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

Q—I have hardening of the window in the morning and taking a deep breath. Many people am much improved after three years of treatment. Do the arteries have the power to rid themselves of some of the fat that accumulates in them and causes hardening?

A—Your arteries can not rid themselves of the changes that have taken place in their walls. If, however, you have been able to eliminate the factors that caused your arteries to harden, the work of the obstructed arteries will have been taken over by other arteries. This is accomplished by their becoming wider and by sending out collateral branches to nourish the tissues that were deprived of an adequate blood supply.

Q—in a recent column you advised against deep breathing exercises but you didn't give any reason. Please explain.

A—There is nothing wrong with standing before an open series of 10 or 12 deep breaths which would expose you to the danger of hyperventilation.

This would make you light-headed or faint. It even causes some persons to lose consciousness momentarily. It is much better to go through a series of vigorous exercises that will make you take deep breaths.

Deep breathing after such exercises helps you catch up on your oxygen supply without causing hyperventilation.

Q—in a recent answer you said Dilantin was given for epilepsy. I don't have epilepsy but my doctor is giving me this drug for throbbing in the head, ringing in the ears and general nervousness. In what way would it be helpful in my case?

A—Although this drug is most often used to treat epilepsy, it may also be used for persons with chorea (St. Vitus' Dance), shaking palsy and excited states. If it helps you, there is no reason why you should not continue to take it.

Q—I am 45 years old and will be married soon. I still menstruate. Would it be dangerous for me to have a baby at my age?

A—Many women have their first baby after the age of 37. Because a first labor at this age is likely to be unduly prolonged so often necessary in such mothers, most doctors prefer delivery by Caesarean section. This would eliminate the dangers mentioned.

You'll Like This Irish Stew

By GAYNOR MADDOX
March 17 is a great day for the Irish. It can be a great day for everyone if the menu includes an Irish stew and a tangy fresh fruit shamrock dessert.

So whether you march in a St. Patrick's Day parade or watch it on television, when it's dinner time enjoy this menu in honor of the day.

ST. PATRICK'S IRISH STEW (Oven Method—6 servings)

3 pounds lamb stewing meat, 2 cups sliced onions, 2 pounds (approx. 4 or 5) medium-sized potatoes, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup hot water, 1 tablespoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon ground black pepper.

Trim lamb and cut meat into 1-inch pieces. Combine meat with onions and place in a 3-quart casserole. Peel potatoes and slice $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thick. Arrange slices over meat, overlapped in shingle fashion, in a 3-inch border leaving the meat uncovered in the center.

Mix cold water and flour until smooth and mix with hot water, salt and black pepper. Pour over the stew.

Cover and cook in a pre-heated slow oven (325 degrees) 2 hours or until meat is done and almost all the liquid has disappeared.

If desired, place under broiler to brown potatoes. Serve hot from the casserole.

GARROCK CITRUS FRUIT MOLD (6 servings)

2 packages unflavored gelatin $\frac{1}{4}$ cup cold water, 1 cup hot water, 1-3 cup sugar, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup fresh lime or lemon juice, $\frac{1}{2}$ cups fresh grapefruit juice, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon green food coloring, 1 cup fresh grapefruit sections.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water and sugar. Mix well. Stir in lime or lemon and grapefruit juice and food coloring. Rinse a 1-quart mold in cold water and fill 2-3 full with the mixture.

Chill until firm. Then, refrigerate remaining mixture until it is the thickness of fresh egg whites. Fold in grapefruit sections and pour over firm layer. Chill until firm.

CHICKEN VEGETABLE SALAD

Two cups each torn spinach and mixed salad greens, 1 cup diced cooked chicken, 1 cup diced cooked broccoli, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup coarsely grated carrot French dressing.

Gently mix together the spin-

Why Gold Supply Dwindles

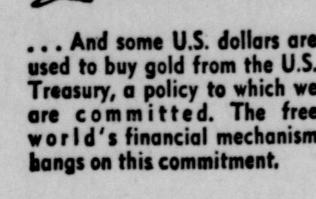

The United States pays more money to foreign nations than it receives from them each year. This is called the "balance of payments deficit."

Foreign nations, through purchases and loan payments, give some—not all—American dollars back to the U.S.

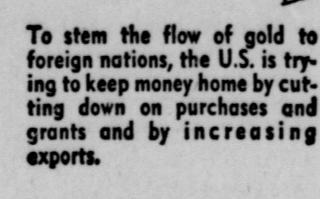

Of the U.S. dollars which stay in the foreign nations, some are invested in U.S. government securities and some are kept in reserve.

Foreign nations are exchanging their U.S. dollars for U.S. gold in such quantities that the gold supply at Fort Knox is dwindling. This is what makes the "balance of payments deficit" serious, for without gold backing, the dollar weakens.

... And some U.S. dollars are used to buy gold from the U.S. Treasury, a policy to which we are committed. The free world's financial mechanism hangs on this commitment.

To stem the flow of gold to foreign nations, the U.S. is trying to keep money home by cutting down on purchases and grants and by increasing exports.

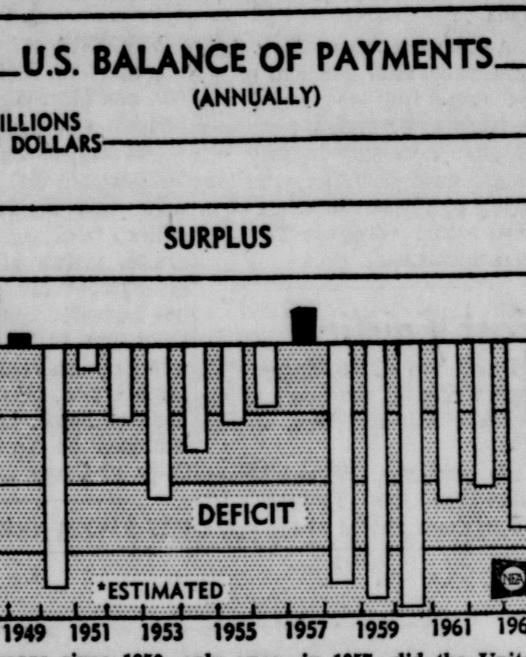

For nine of the last 10 years, the United States paid out more money to foreign nations than it got back.

The "balance of payments deficit" is worrying economists because the trend is likely to continue. The surrounding charts explain the problem.

Foreign nations have been steadily exchanging their American dollars for our gold—more than $7 billion worth in the last five years. We now have less than $16 billion remaining in Fort Knox. If foreign nations asked for gold in exchange for their dollars all on the same day, we would be unable to pay them.

A loss of faith in the strength of the American dollar would seriously disrupt the free world's finances. Many countries use their supply of dollars—

In the years since 1950, only once—in 1957—did the United States receive more money from foreign countries than it paid out to them. During 1950-56, the deficits average $1.5 billion annually; during 1958-63, they averaged about $3.2 billion. In the earlier period, the U.S. was helping to close the "dollar gap"—the shortage of dollars overseas that then made it hard for foreigners to buy American goods. But in the later period, foreign countries had accumulated all the dollars they wanted for reserve currency and started using some of their surplus to buy gold from the U.S. Treasury.

instead of gold—to back up their own money.

To keep international finances stable, our government is trying to stem the flow of dollars abroad by trimming defense expenditures, tying foreign aid to expenditures within the United States and decreasing purchases of uranium by the Atomic Energy Commission.

Although in calendar year 1962 the United States ended up with a nearly $2.2 billion deficit in its balance of payments, trade in goods and services with foreign nations continued in favor of the United States.

In the past three years, the U.S. surplus on good and services has ranged from $3.8 billion to $4.5 billion. This plus factor more than offsets military and tourist spending overseas—items that are frequently singled out as major causes of the payments deficit.

Where the U.S. slides into the red is in foreign aid spending and private investment overseas. The chart shows the breakdown of dollars entering and leaving the United States in 1962. Efforts are being made to plug the leak.

Despite Scandals, 1972 Completion Date Seems Certain

Interstate Highway System Growing

THE OPEN ROAD: A portion of America's growing nationwide highway system, Interstate 95, Florida.

By TOM NOLAN

Lane for lane, the sprawling federal Interstate Highway System will be about 130 times longer than the Great Wall of China. It has been called the most gigantic construction project in the world.

Now, despite a good many proven cases of corruption, graft and shoddy workmanship, the 41,000-mile system is rambling toward its 1972 completion date.

As the halfway point of the 16-year program approaches, 16,550 miles are open to traffic. Another 5,000 are under construction. Surveys and right-of-way acquisition are under way on 12,000 more miles.

Only 18 per cent of the planned system remains to be tackled. The interstate system will account for a sizable portion of the total national investment of $6.3 billion this year. And many of the 370,000 highways jobs in the United States will be owed to the federal project.

PERHAPS IT WAS only to be expected that in an undertaking of such size there would be a certain amount of mishandling. Almost from the preliminary survey, allegations of corruption began circulating. So numerous and varied were they that Congress in 1959 created a special highway investigating committee, chaired by Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn. The committee found:

Fraud or carelessness involving right-of-way acquisitions in 24 states.

The Interstate System

Travel data between some major urban centers linked by the Interstate Highway System:

BOSTON-NEW YORK: 217 miles: All completed interstate toll roads. Driving time: 3 hours, 50 minutes. Tolls: $2.15.

NEW YORK-WASHINGTON: 229 miles: All completed interstate, with 196 miles of toll roads. Driving time: 4 hours. Tolls: $4.55.

NEW YORK-CHICAGO: 844 miles: All completed interstate toll roads. Driving time: 14 hours. Tolls: $12.45.

WASHINGTON-CHICAGO: 712 miles: 622 miles completed interstate, 597 miles of toll roads. Driving time: 12 hours. Tolls: $8.25.

DETROIT-CHICAGO: 282 miles: 271 miles completed interstate, 65 miles of toll roads. Driving time: 4 hours, 50 minutes. Tolls: $1.35.

CHICAGO-OMAHA: 491 miles: 271 miles completed interstate, 15 miles under construction. Driving time: 8 hours, 45 minutes. No tolls.

CHICAGO-KANSAS CITY: 550 miles: 378 miles completed interstate, 172 miles under construction, 45 miles additional divided highways. Driving time: 9 hours, 45 minutes. No tolls.

ST. LOUIS-OKLAHOMA CITY: 530 miles: 517 miles completed interstate, 228 miles of toll roads. 13 miles under construction. Driving time: 9 hours. Tolls: $2.90.

DALLAS-HOUSTON: 240 miles: 133 miles completed interstate, 29 miles under construction. Driving time: 4 hours, 25 minutes. No tolls.

HOUSTON-MIAMI: 1,234 miles: 340 miles completed interstate, 125 miles of toll roads, 80 miles under construction, 268 miles additional divided highways. Driving time: 23 hours. Tolls: $2.40.

WASHINGTON-MIAMI: 1,000 miles: 426 miles completed interstate, 123 miles of toll roads, 150 miles under construction, 225 miles additional divided highways. Driving time: 18 hours. Tolls: $2.40.

SEATTLE-SAN DIEGO: 1,400 miles: 700 miles completed interstate, 52 miles under construction, 475 miles additional divided highways. Driving time: 25 hours. Tolls: none.

SHODDY or deliberately dishonest construction practices in 21 states.

Payola accepted by highway department employees in seven states.

Rev. Jim Wright, D-Tex., estimated that the program will now cost taxpayers almost twice as much as the $27.5 billion originally planned.

The federal government has already spent or obligated $22.5 billion on the work completed or in progress. States have added another $9 billion on their own.

STEPS HAVE BEEN taken to correct some of the irregularities. Civil service and merit systems are replacing patronage in several state highway departments. Massachusetts, West Mexico have passed bills reorganizing their entire department of public works.

On the federal level, Rex M. Whittton, administrator of the Bureau of Public Roads, has tightened regulations.

The interstate highways now open to traffic testify to the fact that federal and state agencies can join with private construction companies to build roads.

efficiently and economically.

The program has thus far concentrated on the large urban areas. Of the 11,425 miles between 15 key urban centers, 7,580 miles (66 per cent) of interstate roads have been completed. Another 1,555 miles of four-lane divided highways already had been in existence between these cities.

There is a new form of recreation sweeping the country. Pocket billiards now enjoyed by both ladies and gentlemen.

I just came back from a visit to the new Kimberly Recreation Center at 301 South Main Street in Columbiana. This Saturday evening Edward and Irm Altomare will open their beautiful new center, the time seven o'clock. They have an indoor golf range as well as billiards, beautiful wall to wall carpet and wood paneled walls.

Why don't you stop in and have a look around. I was pleasantly surprised.

FICTION

LATE-BLOOMING FLOWERS AND OTHER STORIES by Anton Chekhov. The title story in this collection has never been published in America before. The others are from later in his writing career. All have been newly translated, all are worth reading and study.

THE SPY WHO CAME IN FROM THE COLD by John Le-Carre. Counted as one of the best spy novels to appear in a long while, this is the story of an Englishman who, in one of the most intricate and deadly plots imaginable, becomes involved both professionally and emotionally in both sides.

THE PEREGRINE FALCON by Robert Murphy. Any one who has ever seen hawks at close range will appreciate and enjoy this beautifully written account of the first year of life of a falcon.

SOME TRUST IN CHARIOTS by Jack Weeks. Three generations of automobile manufacturers here portrayed against a well-drawn background of the America of the period between 1885 and 1940. There have been a good many novels about business this year, but this is one of the best.

OUR HONOR THE MAYOR by Dave Morrah. When a village husband and wife run against each other for mayor, the election ends in a tie. The outcome is that each serves as mayor three days per week.

You can imagine the predicaments the author of such hilarities as Der Wizard in Ozzenland does with this situation.

Mysteries

TEACHER'S BLOOD by Ivan T. Ross. When one teacher is suspected of murdering another things get pretty hectic around the school.

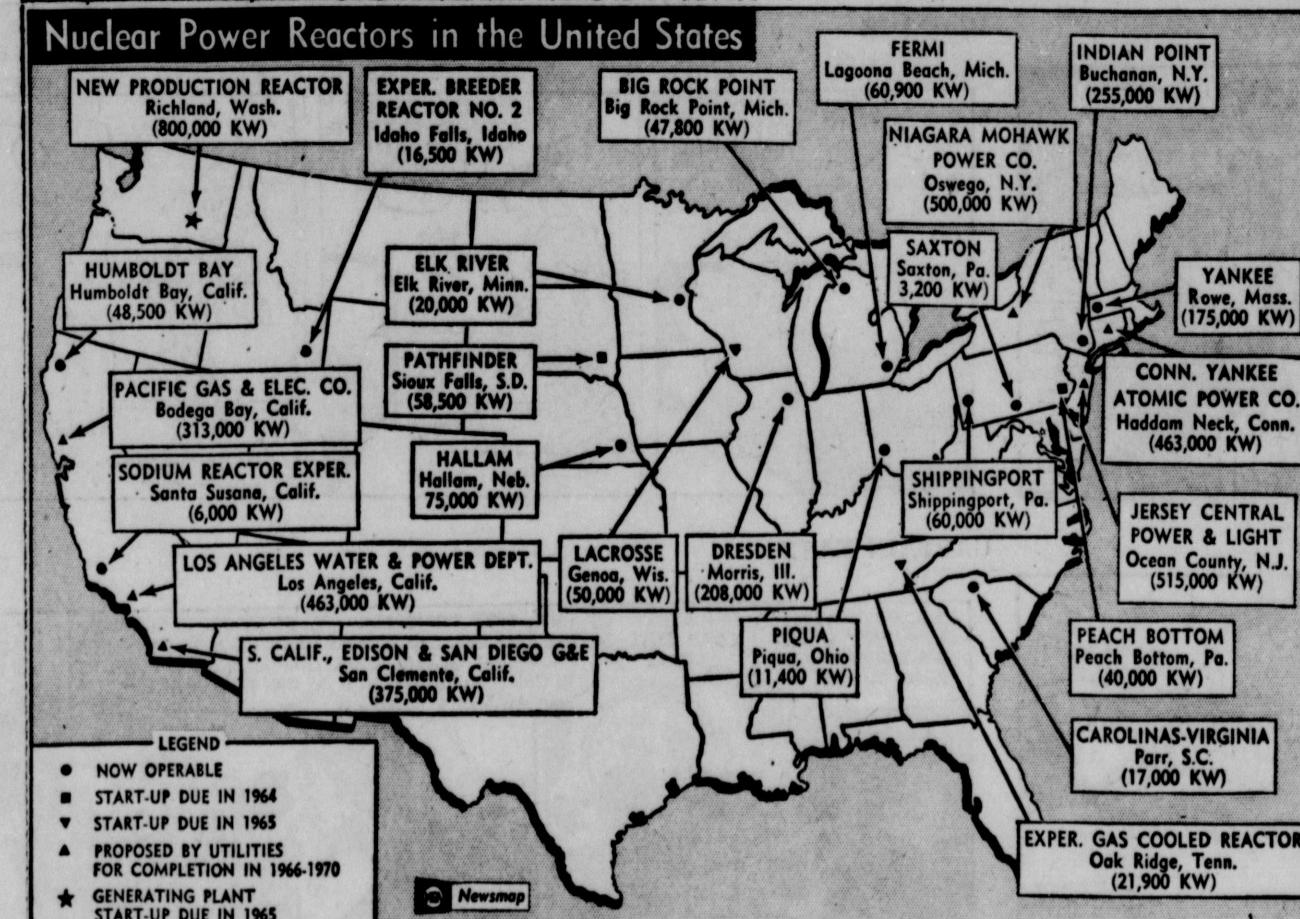

BLOOD ON THE STARS by Aaron Marc Stein. When Matt Erridge picked up an undersized teen-ager he hardly expected him to pull a gun on him.

THE BRASS KEY by Francis Swann. A young girl trying to solve the riddle of her father's past has only the brass key as a clue.

NON-FICTION

PHILOSOPHIES OF JUDAISM by Julius Guttmann. This masterly treatment begins in Biblical times and comes down to modern in its tracing of the beliefs of various Jewish philosophers and philosophies. This is the first appearance of the book in English. It has been translated from both the German and Hebrew editions.

BIBLE IN POCKET, GUN IN

A PEACEFUL USE OF NUCLEAR POWER — Residents of 14 areas in the United States are now using power created by nuclear methods. Twelve more nuclear power reactors— to serve 12 additional areas—will be operational by 1970, according to the Atomic Energy Commission. Today, the nuclear reactors have a capacity of more than 1 million kilowatts; by 1970, about 4 million additional kilowatts will be available.

HAND by Ross Phares. Some chapters in a very informal history of religion on the frontiers of America, this is light enough to be read for amusement, but the material is likely to be cause for sadness rather than laughter with its documented stories of ignorant itinerant preachers and still more ignorant parishioners.

THE PSEUDO-ETHIC by Margaret Halsey. With clarity and wit, Miss Halsey cites many examples to prove her thesis that this country has produced a new and inferior code of ethics which it lives by, and that the only way any country headed can go is to oblivion.

MASERS AND LASERS by Gordon Troup. A revised edition of an earlier British title, this brings the subject as up-to-date as possible. However, the author remarks in his preface that any book on this subject is bound to be out of date by the time it is published, so rapid is the development of new information in this science.

GAUGIN by Raymond Cogniat. This is a volume in the Students' Series of Great Artists being published by Abrams. It is an inexpensive volume, but the 36 illustrations in full color leave much to be desired for the art student.

YOUNG ACTOR'S GUIDE TO HOLLYWOOD by Ralph Benner and Mary Jo Clements. A realistic assessment of what a young person needs to get ahead or indeed to stay alive in Hollywood, this gives examples of how many young actors and actresses got their start, the qualities they have, the versatility that is a must for every aspiring actor and actress to day.

ITALIAN PAINTING by Andrea Emiliani and SPANISH PAINTING by Ugo Bicchi. Two volumes in the Golden Press Art of the Western World series, these are very large, have many full color full page illustrations. Due to the type of reproduction process used, however, all trace of surface texture has vanished. One could wish for an index, also.

WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE by

A. L. Rowse. Professor Rowse is judged to be the greatest living authority on Shakespeare, but perhaps an even more important consideration is that he writes so well and so interestingly. One might think that at this point in history and after so many books have been written about Shakespeare, there could not possibly be anything new. The opposite is surely true of this book, and it is heartening to see it on the best-seller list.

NEW YORK ON THE HOUSE by Richard Denholz and others. This is a practically endless list of interesting places to go in and about New York which are free. They include not only the well-known, the museums, the parks, the unusual tourist attractions, but many that are not usually known at all to those who live out of town.

YANKS DON'T CRY by Martin Boyle. A Marine who spent nearly four years in Japanese prison camps after the attack on Pearl Harbor tells the story of those terrible years. He does it in a matter-of-fact manner, GI language and all.

THREE WAYS OF LOVE by

Frances Parkinson Keyes. Biographies of three Italian saints—Saint Agnes of Rome, Santa Francesca Romana and Saint Catherine of Siena.

LUTHER by Gerhard Ritter. This biography is by a historian, not a theologian, and it shows the far-reaching effects of Luther's life and work on many aspects of Protestant life even to the present day.

DISGUISE IS A HABIT — Deputy Sheriff Frances Anderson tells of her role in stakeout at Maryknoll Catholic Seminary post office. Mrs. Anderson, mother of two, wore nun's habit as she took over duties of nuns at post office. She was in thick of things when gang of four held up post office and took $50,000 before police engaged them in gun battle, capturing three.
